LOCATION

East Cholderton is a small rural hamlet in the Test Valley district of Hampshire, forming part of the civil parish of Amport. It lies just off the A303, west of Andover, providing easy access to the town while retaining a quiet countryside setting. Andover offers a range of convenient amenities, including shops, healthcare, leisure facilities and rail connections, while Stockbridge, Winchester, Newbury and Salisbury are all within a 20–30 minute drive. The hamlet itself has limited amenities, but nearby Amport and Thrupton provide a primary school, village pubs and local community facilities. Several state primary schools are close by, including Amport Church of England Primary, with secondary schooling available at John Hanson and Harrow Way Community Schools. Independent schools such as Farleigh, Embley School, Godolphin are also accessible. The surrounding countryside offers scenic walking routes and open landscapes, making East Cholderton a desirable rural location with excellent transport links.
